WOODCHURCH is an ancient village and large parish, 8 miles south of Smarden, 4 from Appledore, and 5½ from Tenterden, in which Union it is, in Blackbourn Hundred, lathe of Scray. The church, dedicated to All Saints, stands on high ground on the borders of Romney Marsh, and was erected by one of the ancient Norman family of Woodchurch, which took its name from this parish, and which is changed to Clarke on succeeding to Mountford in Kingsworth. The church is a large building, and contains many ancient monuments to the Woodchurches, Clarkes, and others. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of the Archbishop of Canterbury, value £610 per annum; the Rev. F. B. Wells, M.A., is the incumbent. Sir Simon Woodchurch, buried in this church, was one of the Kentish nobles, knighted at the siege of Carlaverock by Edward I., and surnamed the Malleus Scotorum, or Smasher of the Scotch. Sir John Clarke, who distinguished himself at the battle of Poitiers, is also buried here. The area of the parish is 6,840 acres, and the population 1,278. In 1842, the Property Tax assessment was £7,018.

WOODNESBOROUGH, a large village, derives its name from the illustrious Woden, the founder of the English royal family, formerly worshipped as a god by our forefathers, and to whom the fourth day of the week is sacred. The village is at the foot of a spur of a chain of hills, which commands an extensive view of the surrounding country. It is in the lower half Hundred and Union of Eastry, lathe of St. Augustine, 1½ miles west of Sandwich. The church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, is a neat structure. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Rochester, of the annual commuted value of £450, in the incumbency of the Rev. H. Hotham, B.A.; the glebe consists of about 3½ acres. The population, in 1841, was 792; the area is 2,790 acres. On Woodnesborough hill, great quantities of Saxon antiquities have been found at different periods. In the neighbourhood is MARSHBOROUGH. The Independents have a small chapel here.
