Electoral Roll 1832

Voter registration has been a requirement in England and Wales since the Representation of the People Act 1832. This Act increased the number of people eligible to vote in parliamentary elections and included small landowners, tenant farmers, shopkeepers, householders who paid a yearly rental of £10 or more, and some lodgers. Previously, only noblemen, the wealthy and landed gentry enjoyed this privilege. While increasing the size of the electorate, the Act also explicitly denied women the opportunity to vote. This would come in 1918 for women aged over 30 and for men and women equally in 1928.
